Changes to images on our digital media

As part of our ongoing commitment to safeguarding, we have been reviewing how we use photographs across our social media channels. We are responding to growing concerns around the use, misuse and manipulation of children's images online, including through advances in AI technology.

This doesn't mean we'll stop celebrating the wonderful things happening in our school community. Far from it. We know how much families enjoy seeing the learning, achievements and special moments that make school life so memorable.

Instead, we've simply changed the angle, not the story.

Moving forward, you'll see us sharing more:

 Hands-on content - showcasing learning, exploring and creating without showing faces.

 Backs of heads - telling the story of the moment without revealing the child.

 Side profiles - only where we have parental consent to do so.

These small changes help us continue sharing the excitement of school life while taking extra steps to protect our children in an increasingly digital world.

We remain committed to celebrating the learning, creativity, achievements and special moments that happen every day at Church Hill, while ensuring safeguarding remains at the heart of everything we do.

We've changed the angle, not the story.

Celebrating every moment, safeguarding every future.
