

Shining a light on...

Mutual Respect

What do we mean by 'respect'?

Respect is about recognising that every person is important and deserves to be treated fairly. It means listening carefully, using kind words, following rules and taking care of people, property and the environment.

Respect allows us to learn from one another and celebrate our differences.

How do we see respect in school?

At Church Hill we show respect when we:

- 😊 Listen carefully when others are speaking
- 😊 Use kind and polite words
- 😊 Follow school rules and expectations
- 😊 Include others and value their ideas
- 😊 Take care of school equipment and our environment
- 😊 Celebrate and respect differences between people

Read a book!

Why not read this book about hearing stories of the past from people who were there.

Spirituality

Respect helps us grow by valuing ourselves, caring for others, appreciating the world around us and being open to different beliefs and ideas. By showing respect in our words and actions, we live out our school value of kindness and help create a community where everyone feels valued and included.

How can we show respect at home?

- 🏠 Listen when family members are talking
- 🏠 Use good manners such as "please" and "thank you"
- 🏠 Help look after the home and family belongings
- 🏠 Respect personal space and other people's feelings
- 🏠 Take turns and share fairly with others

HOMEWORK ACTIVITIES

To be handed in for Friday 4th December

For this half-term homework, children should choose one of the two activities provided. One activity is designed to be completed together as a family, while the other encourages children to work more independently.

A conversation across generations

Talk together as a family about why we remember people who have served in wars and conflicts. If possible, speak to a grandparent, older relative, neighbour or family friend about what Remembrance means to them. You could also discuss how showing respect today is similar to the respect we show during Remembrance events.

In your book:

- Write down three interesting things you learned from your discussion.
- Include a short reflection (3–5 sentences) explaining why remembering others is important.
- Add a photograph, drawing, poppy picture or family mind map to show your conversation.
- Finish with a thought about how showing respect for people's sacrifices can help us build a kinder community today?

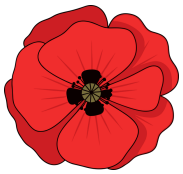

Remembrance Research Project

Create a poster, fact file, leaflet or information page about Remembrance and Respect.

You could include:

- Why we wear poppies.
- The meaning of the two-minute silence.
- Facts about Remembrance Day or Armistice Day.
- Ways people show respect during remembrance events.
- Inspirational quotes, illustrations or photographs.
- Your own ideas about why respect is an important value

INCLUDE

✅ A clear title

✅ At least 5 facts about Remembrance

✅ An explanation of how Remembrance links to respect

✅ Pictures, diagrams or illustrations

✅ Neat presentation

and your own thoughts or reflections

Challenge: Include information about a local war memorial, remembrance service or person who has contributed to serving others.
