

Well - we made it to the final week of term!

This week we would like you to write your own poem, that is designed to perform! We would love to see it on Twitter or our Share point.

Writing including Grammar

Monday	Watch the poet, Roger McGough, performing his poem https://vimeo.com/20373107 This week we will be writing our own sound collector poem. Instead of collecting the sounds in the morning, let's think about another time of day - perhaps lunchtime at school, or dinner time at home. What sounds can you hear when you are getting ready for bed? Talk to people in your family and collect as many different types of sounds for a time of day of your choice. Record it on the sheet.
Tuesday	Using the sounds that you collected yesterday, think of the best words to describe these sounds. Be precise with your verb choices e.g. gurgling drain or chiming alarm clock. Think if the sound could have an onomatopoeic word to describe it e.g. screech, clink etc Try to think of various ideas for each sound. It will help you if you have more of a choice tomorrow. Use a thesaurus and a dictionary to help if you need it! Add them to your sheet from yesterday.
Wednesday	We're going to use the structure of the sound collector to write our own poem. You can use other features of poetry like rhyme, alliteration and repetition to make your poem really fantastic! See the sheet for an example based on the original.
Thursday	Practise performing your poem with great expression and body language like last week. Try it out in front of the mirror. What could you improve on?
Friday	Perform your poem to a family member and ask them for a comment about your performance. Ask them to complete the form on the home learning pages in the notebook. How does it compare to last week's performance?

Handwriting

Monday	Please write out your poem in your best handwriting. You can decorate the page as you like, try to make it relate to the theme of the poem.
