Individual liberty

Freedom is never voluntarily given by the oppressor; it must be demanded by the oppressed.

Martin Luther King, Jr.

Individual liberty means being free from oppression (the act of having power over someone in a cruel or unfair manner) or restrictions by the government or power.

It is often described as "the right to believe, act and express oneself freely." Individual liberty suggests the free exercise of rights generally seen as outside Government control. It is the protection of your rights and the rights of others.

Having liberty means that we can decide lots of things about our lives - people are free in what they do, where they go, what they eat or what they speak. Having liberty also means that people have the freedom to make choices about their clothes, food, and their way of life.

Individual liberty does not mean you are free to do what you want. It means you are free to do what's right.

What does Individual Liberty mean to you?

Chilwell Croft Academy in Birmingham, set their children a task to produce some artwork to show this. Here are some of their efforts. Could you do something similar?

Write a poem to show what Individual Liberty means to you. Here is an example:

Finding Freedom

Finding freedom
Finding hope
Finding what was lost
Inside of me

Searching for a spark
Searching for a flame
Searching for the brightness
Inside of me

Chasing the rainbows
Chasing the dreams
Chasing all the courage
Inside of me

Looking for a way
Looking for a path
Looking for a future
In front of me
