Fairness

What the bible says
about fairness?

BLESSED ARE THOSE WHO ACT JUSTLY, WHO ALWAYS DO
WHAT IS RIGHT.

(Psalm 106:3-NIV)

Fair isn't everyone
getting the same thing...

Fair is everyone
getting what they need to be SuccesseSSful.

As we embrace the beginning of Lent, a season of reflection and spiritual renewal, it seems a good time to explore the link between the themes of fairness and the practices of Lent.

Fairness, at its core, reflects a commitment to impartiality, compassion, and understanding in our interactions with others. This means that everyone gets what they need, based on differences in opportunity. Sometimes people will have different needs because we are unique individuals. For example: Some children wear glasses and some don't. That's not equal, but it's fair because not everyone needs glasses to see and learn best. This principle aligns with the spirit of Lent, which invites us to examine our lives, seek forgiveness, and renew our dedication to living in harmony with our beliefs.

The 40 days of Lent symbolise Jesus' time in the wilderness, a period of challenge and self-discovery. It is a time to reflect on our need for growth, and extend grace to those around us. By embracing fairness in our daily lives, we foster trust, co-operation and justice for all. Let our acts of kindness, our commitment to justice, and our compassion towards others be the light that we shine into the lives of others.

*Unfairness isn't fair!
Think of a situation
where someone has been unfair to you, or you have been unfair to others.
Describe it. What was unfair about it? How did it make you feel? What did you learn from the experience? What could have been done to make it fair?*

Make some Fairness Family Rules

Everyone at home has a go at writing a list of five rules that are required for being fair, such as sharing toys and telling the truth. When everyone has finished, compare each list to find the top 3 most common rules that everyone agrees on. Make a poster to remind everyone of the Fairness Family Rules!

FAIRNESS

Make a poster to show all the different ways we can practise fairness in our daily lives. Take your time to create beautiful lettering and illustrate it carefully. Could your poster be good enough to be displayed in your classroom or Mrs Brown's office?
